

MIAMI KILLIAN SENIOR HIGH

50TH REUNION, CLASS OF 1975

NEWSLETTER #6 - AUGUST 14, 2024

Note from the Editor: It's another month closer to the reunion and excitement continues to build! Finding lost classmates, choosing a headquarters hotel and everything in-between, the committees have spent countless hours to make sure no detail is left out. We hope you find everything you want to know about the event in the following pages. If you have a story idea or story to submit, please, let me hear from you! This is YOUR Newsletter. We want it to reflect you! — Barbara Rutledge McGreal

REUNION BOARD NAMES HOTEL FINALISTS

During your Reunion Board meeting on July 25th, the 15 volunteers planning your 50-Year Celebration took another step forward to meet their goal of hosting the biggest and best class reunion we've ever had. By unanimous consent, they approved a "short list" of convention hotels proposed by the Site Selection Committee. The hotels vying to host our event were boiled down to just five properties, from a list that once included 28 contenders.

The short list was the product of five months of scrutiny that began in February when we asked classmates on our private Facebook page where to hold the Reunion. During an email election on April 1-9, when 120 of 213 registered classmates cast a ballot, Miami/Ft. Lauderdale catapulted to first place, beating both Tampa and Orlando combined. Three potential reunion dates were narrowed down to June 12-15, 2025, matching up exactly with the date we graduated on June 13, 1975.

A hotel request for proposal (RFP) was drafted next. The process relied upon a Facebook poll in June where more than 100 classmates expressed program preferences that dictated our facility needs. A final draft was ratified by the Reunion Board on July 2nd, and then distributed to every hotel in Dade and Broward counties with at least 235 rooms under $250 per night, with ballroom space for at least 260 people for our evening events. In all, 28 properties received our RFP on July 8-9.

With help from Joe McCray at the Greater Miami Convention & Visitors Bureau, and Elena Gladstone, at Visit Fort Lauderdale, we found 11 hotels with sufficient inventory to submit a bid by our July 19th deadline. The submissions were analyzed by the Site Selection Committee, which selected five finalists on July 21st. The hotel finalists approved by your Board appear on top of page 2.

Site inspections of the finalist hotels are being conducted August 15-16, 2025, with a ranked list of properties determined thereafter. Your Site Inspection Team consists of: Michael Bell, Denise (Willis) Dozier, Flo (Leidecker) Lanio, Karen (Wilson) Lawrence and Doug Traub. Classmate Robyne Newell will meet up with the Team during its Ft. Lauderdale visit and provide a tour of the area.

During its July meeting, the Board made minor adjustments in our proposed Reunion program (see the latest summary, "Reunion at a Glance," on page 5). The Board also discussed how best to launch a new 50-Year Reunion website at www.KillianClassof75.com, with the buildout anticipated to begin in September.

 MARK YOUR CALENDARS! ***

The Class of '75 has spoken. We voted for the Miami/Ft. Lauderdale area to host our 50th Reunion on June 12-15, 2025. The hotel and program will be ready this fall with Early Bird discounts.

MESSAGE FROM OUR HONORARY CHAIR, CAROL CARVER HARRIS

In her continuing battle with breast cancer, Carol received radiation treatments every day for the past three weeks. Her messages will return again next month. Stay tuned!

MESSAGE FROM YOUR REUNION CHAIR, DOUG TRAUB

When I think about my major focus for the next ten months — helping our team create the biggest and best class reunion in Killian High School history — it gives me the shivers. Not because I'm draining $4,000 out of my own IRA to secure our hotel contract, and if only 100 people were to show, I will end up owing tens of thousands of dollars and probably go bankrupt. That part doesn't worry me because, like Carol Carver Harris before me, I know I'll be made whole eventually. We are going to blow the doors off, and remember our 50-Year Reunion with great joy, until our dying day.

No, what gives me a charge is interacting with the amazing people I have the privilege to know better since I took on the role as Chair. Like so many of us in high school, I did as little as possible. When that bell rang at the end of the day, I was on the bus in a flash to get home. I was not out to make friends; they came as a natural byproduct of struggling to discover myself, what turned me on, and what I was good at. I have come to believe there will never be more genuine bonds of friendship than those we forged in high school. We were innocent. Pure as we will ever be.

And so it's been easy to fall back into the mindset of high school again with my old classmates on the Reunion Board, open and easy and free. First there was Carol, who I did not know in high school. When I asked if she would help me get our 50th off the ground, little did I realize I was opening a portal into the mind of an amazing, powerful woman. Then Dawn Eberst Lucas joined. I knew Dawn as one of the Majorettes in high school, a long-haired beauty I was afraid to even whisper to. What was wrong with me? What a delight she is. Thank goodness I grew up!

Another Cougar I never knew before is Kathy Miller. We email multiple times a day now. I never appreciated the struggle of someone who is wheelchair bound with muscular dystrophy. I meet few people with the fiery passion she has on so many topics, a woman who is often in pain, sometimes misery, but always sharp and engaging. Our friendship has blossomed into another enduring relationship that will last long after our 50th is over. My wife, Carol, and I are visiting her in Sebring later today, on our way to Miami to help rank our final Reunion headquarters hotels.

Like Carol, Dawn and Kathy, there are several more people I have been impressed to meet and get to know on our Board. Jeri Beall, down-to-earth and direct, conceals a warm, cuddly teddy bear inside. Denise (Willis) Dozier is as sweet as cotton candy, but she will tell you like it is—even when it hurts—and actually make you feel good about it. Flo (Leidecker) Lanio is so loving that her new granddaughter will never find a better guardian angel, even in heaven. What about Karen Lawrence? She's a house on fire and ready to start a blaze near you. I feel so lucky to know her now.

The list doesn't stop! Barbara Rutledge McGreal, never afraid to step out in front of the cameras and share her thoughts or advice, took the job as editor of this newsletter and look at the job she has done! Bruce Oestrich, soft-spoken and kind, is a former first responder of the highest character, a man I deeply respect for living up to his word and looking out for others like he does. And Michael Bell, our newest member, has taught me so much. He's eloquent, diplomatic and bright, all areas where I could stand to improve, just by watching him in action.

I could write pages! Beth Gault shared many warm-hearted laughs with me on the Yearbook staff; we're back at it again! Bruce Orr, once our ad salesman for the Cougar's Roar, is back cracking up with me all over again, just like we used to do in class every day. Stu Evans, another newspaper pal that I carried around in a chair over my head at his wedding, whose mother was like my own, could not be a closer friend now. And then there's Paula (Finkelstein) Rosenberg, the brainy girl in band who was known by almost everyone. I'm getting to know her better 50 years too late, it seems.

I have often reflected on the old saying, "You get out of life what you put in." This adage could never be more truthful for me than it is today. I feel so blessed, not only because of the relationships being forged on your Reunion Board, but because there is never a day I don't talk to a classmate now. And with less than ten months to go, the best is yet to come. I invite you to not only save me from bankruptcy and attend our Reunion next year, but to join us as a volunteer, too. Reach out and get involved before June 12, 2025. What have you got to lose? You get out of life what you put in!

REUNION BOARD MEETING SCHEDULE

UPDATE FROM THE COUGATEERS

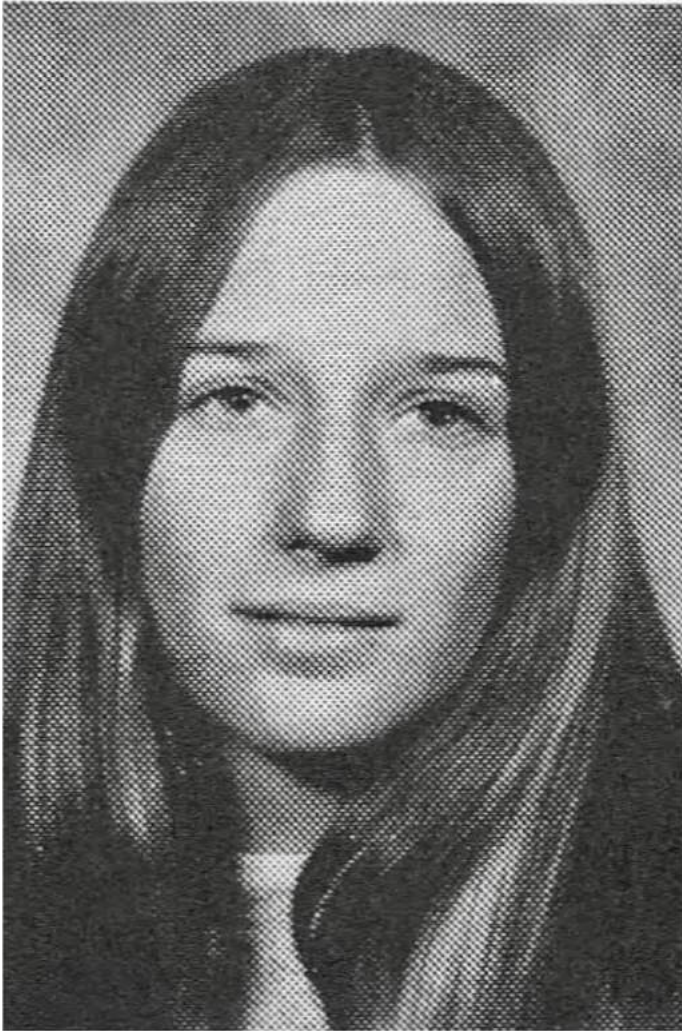

Did you think for a moment that those lovely ladies on the front lines — Beth Gault, Dawn Eberst Lucas and Kathy Miller — who have vowed "one for all and all for one" to locate our lost classmates, might take a break this month? Hardly. Last month we had 530 "lost" classmates without email addresses and 433 viable classmate emails. In just three weeks with your help, the number of lost classmates has been reduced to 498 and viable contacts now total 465. (Unfortunately, they also confirmed 8 more classmates have left this earth too early, for a total of 158 of our classmates who have been confirmed as deceased.) Let's give a cheer for our hard-working Cougateers!

ROBIN RUDDY:
Distinguished Alum

The Miami Killian's Class of 1975 is proud to count Ms. Robin Ruddy among its artistic luminaries. Since relocating to Nashville in 1986, Grammy-winner Robin has built a thriving career as a musician and entrepreneur by working as a songwriter, touring musician, session musician, recording-studio owner, and music publisher. A sought-after multi-instrumentalist, Robin has toured with Rod Stewart, Shania Twain, Ray Stevens, Lynn Anderson and many others.

Robin owns and operates The Parlor, a recording studio located in the heart of Music Row, which has been an integral part of the Nashville recording community since 2000. In addition, Robin authored an instructional book called The Ruddy Method—Beginner Banjo. Her second book, Coconuggets: 10-Secrets to Success in a Coconut Shell, is an endearing parable of perseverance.

In 2005, Robin was recognized with a Grammy Award for Best Traditional Folk Album for playing banjo and singing on a David Ball cut that was included in a project called Beautiful Dreamer: Songs of Stephen Foster.

While it is almost every teenager's dream to be a rock star, since the age of seven, Robin knew that she wanted to be a musician and has been passionately performing ever since. Her varied musical oeuvre literally includes something for everyone: American songs, acoustic instrumentals, children's music, Celtic/Irish music, Christmas songs, and piano instrumentals. "Music is the air that I breathe," said Robin. "Songs flow through me and take flight like the sparrow."

Robin currently plays pedal steel with the Scott Southworth and the Honky Tonk Anonymous Band. She is also a founding member of the band, 16th Ave Breakdown, which creates eclectic mashups of cover songs from the 70s. If bluegrass and rock-n-roll had a love child, it would be 16th Ave Breakdown. Their new record will be released early in 2025. She also has a new EP coming out soon with her duo partner, Carlos Tornos. That group is called Starfish, and it's an all-original project of acoustic island music. That project will be coming out in 2025, as well.

Robin composed and recorded her most recent album, Healing Happens (released on October 31, 2023), following the death of her husband, Larry Sheridan, of 34 years. She hadn't intended to embark on an album of work, but according to Robin, "The songs started coming fast. It was as if they were falling out of the sky. It was as if we were, somehow, still communicating through the music." Healing Happens takes the listener on an emotional journey from grief to healing.

We are pleased to share that Robin is scheduled to perform at Killian's 50th Reunion on Thursday night as part of an ensemble of our troubadour classmates who performed in the school's courtyard back in the day. She is also collaborating with this same group of classmate musicians on an initiative begun by classmate Rick Leinecker to write and record an official rock anthem for the 50th Reunion. Stay tuned!

ROBIN RUDDY: THE INTERVIEW

by Michael Bell

Michael: You indicated that you knew you wanted to be musician/songwriter since you were seven years-old, but you have a very quiet presence in the Killian high school yearbooks—no mention of band, chorus, orchestra; no photos of you headlining anywhere at school. Where and how did you hone your talent and performing skills, if not in school?

Robin: My high school path was a little unique. In the 11th grade I enrolled in night school and obtained my 12th grade credits for graduation. I really wasn't around for 12th grade. At 17, I ran away from home with my boyfriend at the time and we landed in Nashville. I really didn't "run away." I moved out, said "Goodbye, I'm done," and was off to start my new life. The relationship with my boyfriend didn't last and neither did Nashville for the first go-round. I then spent some time in the D.C. area and eventually married and returned to Nashville, which is now my home.

At Killian, I was in the guitar class where I was one of the students who helped other students learn how to play guitar. That's where I was at the time. I just practiced at home. I was in a band when I was 15. We played at the Last Chance Bar at the entrance to the Keys. It was my first paying gig. I wasn't old enough to even be in the bar, but I was with the band! It was so much easier back then. Now I get carded more than I did when I was a kid.

As a high schooler, who were your musical influences and who are they now?

My musical influences in high school largely remain true to this day: James Taylor, Crosby Stills & Nash, Jethro Tull, and Ten Years After. I'm also drawn to Bluegrass musicians. Later on—when I started playing pedal steel—I was influenced by Buddy Evans, Hal Rugg, and John Hughey—the great pedal steel guitar players. I love songwriting and harmonies and excellence in any genre of music; really anything that inspires me. My musical influences run the gamut.

Your recent album, Healing Happens, is very personal and—given its genesis—surprisingly universal and full of hope. How much of that was your own discovery of grief and healing and was it intentional for you to imbue its message with lightness?

It wasn't intentional; it was a journey. Everything that came from Healing Happens (the songs) fell out naturally. It was the natural evolution of the journey. It took about a year to write it and another year to record and mix it. In all, it took roughly two years following the death of my husband for the album to be released. I ended up releasing the album on Larry's birthday. The different phases and stages of it were very organic and reflected what was happening during the real-time of my grieving process.

You go into this well of grief, but you can't stay there. I'm a naturally upbeat person, so writing the music was a good way of getting the grief out of me in a creative way. It diverted my energy into crafting something positive out of the grief. People find different outlets to release their grief: some people cry, visual artists paint—I use songwriting as my outlet.

I started playing the album for people and everyone said, "You need to get this out. It could help a lot of people in similar situations." I released the album, but I'm not sure what to do next in terms of getting it in the hands of people who could benefit from it.

Drinking for Two is an example of that lightness. We are taught not to drink alone, and this song essentially says, "Have at it!" How biographical is Drinking for Two?

Very!

I believe everyone who has lost a spouse experiences the fate you describe in Every Little Thing, but your loss seems particularly vast given the musical empire you and your late husband developed in Nashville. How are you managing all of the moving parts of your life and business as a solo act?

You have to hold up both ends of the board for the first time. Among many attributes, Larry was a Mr. Fixit. He fixed everything that broke. I miss that! I'm not managing it as well as when it was the two of us. I just get done what I can get done.

We look forward to having a musical luminary in our midst at the 50th reunion. When was the last time you visited Miami, and what can we expect in the way of your performance at the reunion?

My last visit to Miami was in 2013, with my mother—who no longer lives in Miami. She wanted to revisit all of the places she remembered of her time living there. My mother is 98 years old, still with her wits about her. The fact that she's 31 years my senior is evidence that I have many more years of productivity ahead for me.

In terms of my performance at the Reunion, I will probably stick with original songs.

Has your mother forgiven you for leaving home at 17?

No. She'll never forgive me for that! She doesn't remember a lot, but she remembers that.

Coda

The one common element that our Class of '75 alum still share is our age. My interview with Robin Ruddy affirms that age is just a number. I would characterize Robin as someone much younger than her chronological age. She continues to live her life on her own terms, still has something new to say and something to give, and is willing to take the occasional calculated risk. She has faced life's hardships and tragedies head-on and come out on the other side stronger and wiser than before. Having listened to her most recent album, Healing Happens, I recommend it for everyone, not just those experiencing grief. The songs are paeans of hope and have a universal applicability. Oh, and the Last Chance Bar is still there! -- Michael

HOW THE COUGATEERS DO THEIR THING

It Ain't as Easy as You Think!

by Doug Traub

Are you sitting at home, feet propped up, drinking another cold one? Good for you. You deserve it. You've worked hard. But lights are burning late in far flung cities tonight where fans move warm air that smells of jasmine and relaxation won't come until late. Seated behind glowing computer monitors, three Cougateers — Beth Gault, in Grove City, OH; Kathy Miller, in Sebring, FL; and Dawn Eberst Lucas in Greenville, SC — are not relaxed at this moment. No, not at all. Their backs are killing them. Their fingers have gone numb. Their blurry stares have begun to go cross-eyed.

Welcome to another day in the life of a Cougateer, women who put it all on the line for us each day. They give new meaning to the Three Musketeers slogan, "All for one and one for all." For 'all' of them are searching for that 'one' classmate who snuck away and no one can find. Each 'one' of them is giving their 'all' for us now. Oh Homer, if only you could be here to honor these modern day heroines with another classic. Your new screed would outshine the Iliad and the Odyssey, and perhaps become required reading in Florida civics classes one day.

How did these modern conquistadors develop a classmate list to begin with, you wonder? Did Kathy, held aloft in her wheel chair by piano wire, descend from the heavens with sacred tablets? Did Dawn hack into the Killian mainframe and route our names through Wikileaks? Perhaps Beth donned a wetsuit and salvaged this treasure from the bottom of Biscayne Bay? Nothing so grand. It all started when I launched our Facebook page and solicited a few hundred names and addresses late last year. But it wasn't until Dawn took over our classmate database that it sprouted wings and flew.

Dawn reviewed all 823 classmates in our 1975 Catamount yearbook and typed in the 600+ names missing on our list. She reviewed the 765 people on the graduation list that Carol Carver Harris secured from Killian back in 1984, a list Killian no longer makes available, and added about 400 more. She folded in a few dozen more from our commencement announcement, and this past month, Dawn even added the names of juniors from the 1974 Catamount who did not graduate with us (but should have). The latest additions have swollen our database from 1,142 to 1,292 classmates.

The sweat off Dawn's brow filled a ten-gallon aquarium, but it was only a start. We needed contact information. But how? Word of mouth contributed mightily, thanks to the efforts of several classmates. Thank-you. Take a bow! (But many of you are holding back, too, letting other people do the work for you. How shameful! Stop hiding your face. Enough with the procrastination. Put the drink down. NOW! Look at the list starting on page 30 and reach out. It won't take long. Or contact us with clues about a missing classmate. Come on, move your index finger. You can do it. That's it. Lift. Lift your mighty index finger, remove it from your nose, and type. I know it's in you!)

We started by reaching out via Facebook, often with your invites, to anyone whose profile seemed to be a match. That worked for a while, until our well ran dry. Another source—again— was Ms. Harris, whose vision and tenacity fired our class spirit in all six of our past Class Reunions over 30 years. We cannot possibly put enough laurels in the path of this revered figure, fellow Cougars. Carol was the one, the only, the original Cougateer! Carol still had her contact information gathered over 25 years and, sick as a dog, she sent it to us anyway. We wasted no time.

New Age Technology

But even these early outreach efforts were just a start, contributing only 35% of the contact info we have collected to date. We still had 800+ names to investigate (now 950 names with the newest additions). And like a pile of kindling waiting for a spark, that's when Kathy, our Outreach Committee "Chair," jumped into the ring and kick-started the great crusade that has now stretched on for five months at 20 to 30 hours each per week. Kathy took over the research arm and dredged up every possible clue for Dawn to try to contact, even as Paula (Finkelstein) Rosenberg and Beth joined her. It became a wrestling match made-for-TV moment as all four of them piled into the ring together.

Eventually, Paula withdrew for personal reasons (but we know she'll be back soon). It boiled down to three. And as the ladies emailed each other in the darkness, slap happy and silly after hours of tedious labor to find lost classmates in a world gone mad with technology and contradictory news broadcasts, that's when the nickname struck — the Cougateers — and that's where it shall be forever more. They touched swords through the ether of cyber space, and in that one moment late at night on the edge of sleep and sweet oblivion, they were forever elevated to the chapters of Killian lore where our common tutorage was transformed into blood and no one turns their back on family.

These ladies turned adversity, not a single penny in our Reunion Board coffers, into a strength. They explored all possible free online sources until, at last, backs against the wall in a battle where they were outnumbered, they miserly forked out their own dough and subscribed to several online information sources for more intelligence. (And once reunion registrations begin to fill our empty Reunion Board treasury this fall, we fully intend to reimburse them). They now wield online tools as if they were a lance or mace, including: Alumni, Ancestry, Classmates, FindAGrave; Google; Intelius; Legacy-Miami Killian High School Remembers; MyLife; Spokeo, WhitePages, and more.

Dialing for Dollars

Even with new techniques, assembling classmate contact information isn't easy. Kathy must search for people in the right age group (65-68) who once lived in Miami. The searches often deliver possible matches with the same name stretching on for pages. For most names, Kathy needs more: a former address, birth date, middle name or even a middle initial to narrow the search. Fortified with such data, it's still not a gimme. Each of us has dozens of phone numbers and email addresses from our half century of foolery. The struggle to find a single classmate is still far from over.

After 20 minutes of calling and emailing a single classmate, a lead may produce nothing more than bounce backs and disconnects. If an email goes through, there may be no eventual reply. Same thing for phone numbers. Occasionally, a Cougateer may hear back from a new phone number owner, or a brother, sister, daughter, son, husband/wife, ex-husband/wife (OMG), mother, father, cousin or someone with the same name who went to a different high school. It becomes an entirely new search all over again, like panning for gold with nothing but bottle caps and rocks to show for it.

Sometimes the Cougateers reach rude people. Other times they reach nice people who say they reached a wrong number. Once in a while, they talk with someone who knows a classmate and promises to deliver a message, but they never hear back. Other times they leave a voice message and wait for return call that never comes. Sometimes they learn a classmate is on Facebook, another needle in a haystack. It continues like this, day after day, week after week, month after month....

“Not interested”— Are you Kidding Me?

Here’s an actual (short) list of phone numbers that was researched for just one classmate:

(727) 255-3849; (615) 336-3804; (305) 598-5814; (727) 919-3778; (305) 666-7498; (305) 244-0292; (305) 854-1794; (253) 973-5965; (305) 275-9508; (305) 351-6282; (305) 588-7064; (305) 984-6903; (425) 418-8033; (727) 271-2030; (786) 382-8846; (973) 568-2191; (786) 525-4209; (727) 848-0187; (727) 848-1706; (616) 682-9235; (305) 264-6481; (615) 375-1679; (786) 250-xxxx – Mobile/Miami, FL

33157 Ah, pay dirt! But guess what? The classmate said they were not interested! &%$#!

As you just witnessed, it often requires enormous effort to reach just one classmate. So ANY help is appreciated. Any clue. Any fact. Anything at all. (Maybe the numbers to a combination lock in a floor safe. The password for an ATM machine. A copy of a last will and testament where you changed the beneficiary to “Doug Traub.”) The Cougateers have vowed to leave no pebble, rock, boulder or mountain unturned. They have found 501 people to date and will continue until the river runs dry. So please, turn to page 30. Take a look at who you know and who you can reach. Every clue, no matter how small, could help! Please pass them along to Cougateer Dawn at: dawnluc28@gmail.com.

....We now return you to the nonstop pinging on your Facebook page, the offensive political messages blasting from the TV, the pile of junk inside your mailbox, the dog who needs to be walked, your dirty laundry, and the voice messages from neighbors asking you to join strange religious cults. We appreciate that you read this long, long story and must be wiped out. We know you love your Killian roots as much as anyone, but you are buried alive inside our capitalistic machine just trying to keep a roof over your head. We only ask one thing, pretty please! Help us find our lost loved ones. Help us bring them back to Miami next June for one big celebration, the finale of our lifetimes!

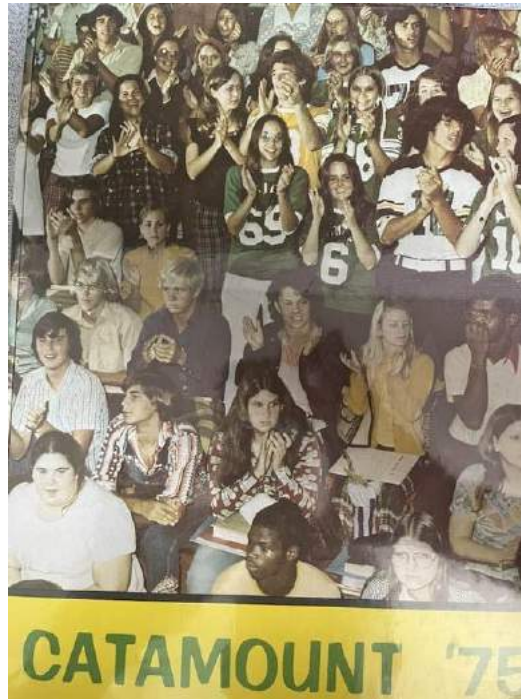

Sidebar: When Having a Name Just Isn’t Enough

Getting a name with additional identifying information, such as a middle name, is great. But for some names, it’s still not enough because there are dozens of people with the same name in our age group who once lived in Miami. (Just open one of those old telephone books stacked in your living room and you get the picture. Pages and pages of the same name, over and over, like a Goundhog Day movie on auto replay.) Here’s a few examples of some of the more difficult names of classmates that will be impossible to find without even more information:

- ☑ Dan, Dave, Dorothy, Jeff or Nancy Brown;
 - ☑ Diana, Kenric, Regina or Willie Jones;
 - ☑ Danilom or David Ramirez;
 - ☑ David or Raquel Rodriguez;
 - ☑ Adrian, Mary, Robert or Vernita Smith; and
 - ☑ Brenda Louise or Cheryl Williams.

We all remember the Sergeant Pepper album cover, right? I just took a photo of our yearbook, with the plastic cover, because I was afraid to try to take it off and put it back on. If you have a better copy, you'll get a cleaner photo. Anyway, when Pepper came out, everyone would fill in the names of famous people. Without trying too hard, I already see Brian Morris, Pam Carman, Dola Beatty, Joan Salas, Libby Martin, and like I said, that's without even trying. Anybody else wanna play? Better yet, does anybody have the technology that changes it into numbered outlines?

Stu Evans: Even MORE on the spine and back cover.

Betsy Jurgensen Fawcett: Chris Vaitonis, Kathy Thiesse, Danny Murphy, Martha Wisbey, Libby Martin, Joan Salas, George Downs....

Cindi Abayan: Donald Thiesse

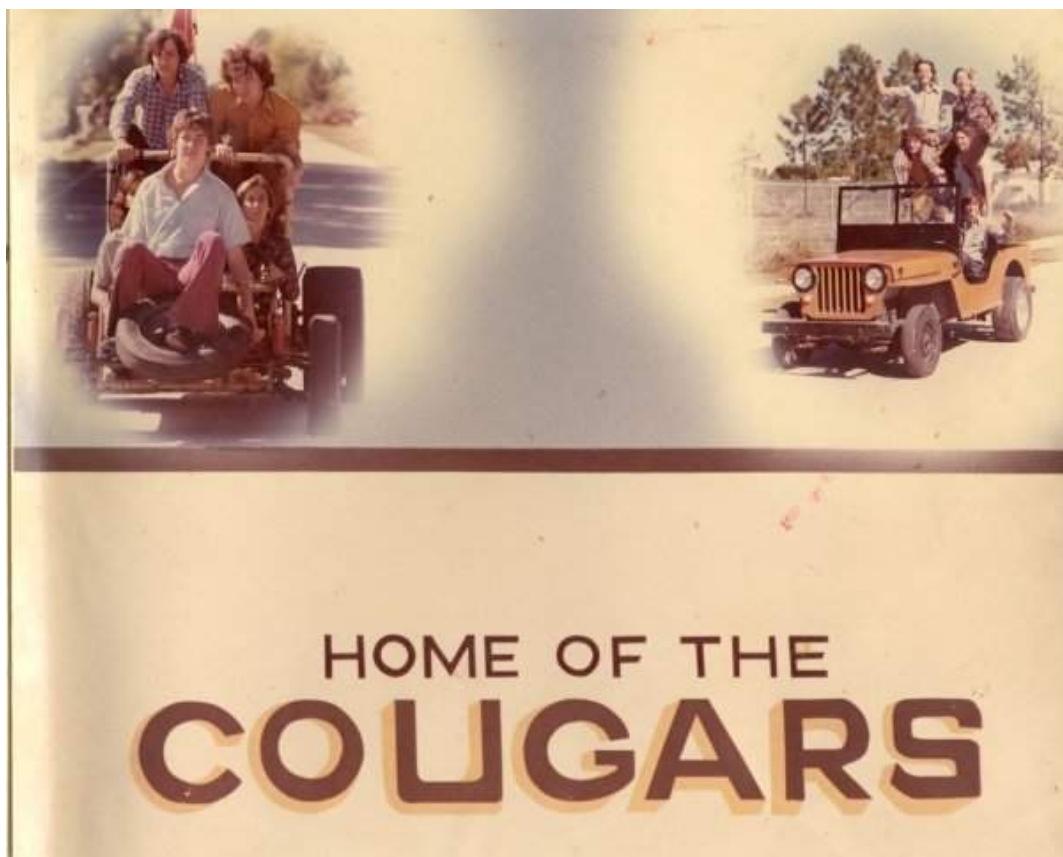

Bev Strong Criswell: Victor Gonzalez

Cindi Abayan: Lenor Smith, John Struck, Mark Jason

Henry Baldwin: George Downs, Libby Martin

Kandace Hill: George Downs

Here's a funny story. My close set of friends wanted to get into the Killian yearbook. The family of one of my friends ran a roofing business. We thought if we could get our jeep and buggy onto the roof of the gym at Killian and took a picture, this would surely get us into the yearbook. Of course, the roof would have never supported the weight of both vehicles. But the roofing elevator would not get them high enough, either. It wasn't to be. So we resorted to photography. These photos were taken by Keith Spurlock. Maybe now we can get the Kudos we were looking for!

Keith Spurlock: Ron hired me! That was a fun photoshoot. The guys at Sunset Photo did the custom printing. If we'd had computers and Photoshop, I could've put them on the roof without the vignetting! Do you guys still have the prints? If so, send me some and I'll Photoshop a better one for you! 😎

Rick Leinecker: We all split up the prints. I got one of the large ones. The smaller pictures are gone to the wind. I'd be glad to pay for it.

RD Flores: What is truly amazing is that I still have that Jeep, and Ron still has the Buggy! In slightly better condition though.

Carol Carver Harris: You're famous now. 😊

Kim Sestok Kushner: What a fun memory you guys have!

Randi Gleichenhaus Pakula: Love This!

Senior Prom: The Way We Were

By Michael Bell

Michael's post seen by 153 classmates, and generated 22 "likes" and 8 comments.

If memory serves me correctly, Killian's Class of '75 senior prom was originally scheduled to take place at the Coconut Grove Hotel. That plan fell through at the 11th hour and our last-minute "Plan B" was to host prom in the Country Club Ballroom at the Biltmore Hotel in Coral Gables. Bear in mind, that in 1975, the Biltmore was not the opulent grand dame that she is today.

From 1942 to 1968, the Biltmore was repurposed, initially as a military hospital, and then as Miami's V.A. Hospital. As a result of these conversions, "many of the windows were sealed with concrete, and the marble floors covered with government-issued linoleum" (<http://en.wikipedia.org>). In addition, the Biltmore's signature pool was drained and ravaged by disuse and the passage of time. The Biltmore sat shuttered and decaying until its reopening in 1987 as the luxury hotel/resort that she is today.

Bottom line, our prom was held amid the detritus and dust of this once esteemed property—AND without any air conditioning during the humid days of South Florida's late spring. I believe our prom was the evening when the term, "hot mess," was coined. In retrospect, we should have capitalized on the unique aspects of the Biltmore at that time, including its haunting by the ghosts of Veterans who died there. (BTW, the lore of the Biltmore being haunted persists to this day! Coulda shoulda woulda been the Monster Mash if we had played our cards better.)

I wasn't much interested in going to Prom—let alone at the moldering Biltmore—but classmate, Ninfa Arredondo, convinced me otherwise. We were senior homeroom buddies who, thanks to the alphabetical seating chart, were seated one in front of the other. I'd yet to learn the term "beard," but I suppose we were each other's beards that evening. That first row was led by Howard Anapol, Ninfa, and me. It fascinates me how the relationships we forged at that time were often the result of space and time. Not surprisingly, I have a stronger recollection of my classmates whose last names started with "A" and "B." Damn those alphabetical seating charts!

For prom, I donned the hideous fashion and hair of the time (mine a rented tux from Sir Galloway). Ninfa was lovely and transcended the sartorial trappings of the 70s. We made the best of it and then made our way to a lounge at the Sonesta Hotel on Key Biscayne, one of several drinking establishments that were lax on checking IDs.

For good or for bad, we made the best of our bizarre prom. We made memories together.

Heh y'all. I guess it's time for the way back time machine! 🕒 I'll give you 50 years in one quick read.

I only attended Killian about one and a half years as a transplant from the North. Then, suddenly, my family moved back to Chicago. I went back for one cold winter and then dropped out of school and returned to Miami. I married an amazing woman, 45 years together this year. A few odd jobs here and there, and a couple of self employed businesses while we were in Miami.

Hired on with Florida East Coast Railroad in 1978. I held jobs including: Locomotive Engineer and Terminal Trainmaster, but for most of the time I was Director of Safety & Operating Practices. I received a management promotion that moved us to St. Augustine, where we currently live. ❤️ I retired in 2013. (Coincidentally, while we were trying to sell the house, Hurricane Andy came to visit and sped things up. We sold the house in Country Walk for salvage and have never looked back.)

Midway through the railroad career we decided to go in business for ourselves. We opened up two Pinch A Penny Pool, Patio Spa franchise locations and still are operating them in St. John's County. That was the best decision I ever made, other than marrying my wife. 🤗 I have two wonderful kids and four gorgeous grandchildren. If you don't remember me, I was one of the guys on the back row parking lot with who we thought were the cool guys with our hot rod cars. Well, maybe not so cool but I still got hot rods! 🔥

I have not decided whether I'm going to the 50-Year Reunion yet. I didn't have that many people that I was very close to other than Marc Rickey. We were roommates a few years and, unfortunately, Mark left Miami and passed away on October 28, 2018 from a heart attack, just like his father. But I'm thinking about coming. If you remember me, please chime in. I'd like to hear from some of my old schoolmates. I've gonna post a couple pictures of me at that age. How time flies....

It's Kandace (MacKenzie) Hill's birthday! She found this photo I took of her with my poodle, Yum Yum and sent it to me. It was taken in September of '74 for the Homecoming Queen voting photos! Yum Yum was popular among the Killian girls I photographed! I did a little restoration work in Photoshop. Happy Birthday Kandy! Thanks for sending the photo! Hope you have an awesome day!

Trip down memory lane this morning to the corner of Kendall Drive & SW 97th Avenue:

1. Former 7-11 is now Fluent Cannabis.
2. Former Chicken Unlimited (where Doug used to work) is now the 24-hour Pinecrest Bakery, conveniently located kitty-corner to the cannabis dispensary.
3. The replacement 7-11 is sited next to the old one, this one with fuel pumps.
4. The abandoned Farm Stores, which I predict will become a drive-thru for Fluent Cannabis.
5. The former Steak & Ale (where we went for "fancy" dining back in the day) is Sports Grill.

Seems that everything old is new again!

"My car's had bad brakes"

THE COUGAR'S ROAR

Toyota's too small

My car's had bad brakes

By Doug Traub

I have a white Toyota that is so different from the average car, it's like comparing a brand new Mercedes to a Tonka toy. It's extremely small; I've seen pocket books with more room in them. In fact one time I drove it into the school cafeteria and claimed it was my lunch box.

My car has had a tough time and some bad brakes. It had an engine transplant and ended up with a lawn mower motor. It's had three flat tires running over thumb tacks. A little kid sat on the hood and it caved in. And how do I cope with the proud drivers of Cadillacs who run over my Toyota without even realizing it? I spend the rest of the day getting out of the ruined remains with a can opener. Or how about getting passed on Dixie Highway by a bicycle?

ASIDE FROM these problems, though, there are a great many advantages. If I'm bored, I can glue on some wings and play glider. I can throw it in the pool and play submarine. If I want to save time, I can mail it. To keep it from getting vandalized in the school parking lot, I keep it in my locker. The best thing of all is that this great mechanical wonder on wheels, a combination of skill, labor and technology, is all powered on two penlight batteries. Let's see a Buick do that!!!

Here we find Doug Traub in a typical driving position. His eyes are alert for impending danger, his hand directs his every move with calculating precision, and calmness and control dominate his features. Too bad he hasn't made it out of his parking space yet.

WHO EXACTLY ARE THE "DIRTY DOZEN?"

The Dirty Dozen and special forces unit known as the "Cougartees" are working countless hours to make our 50th High School Reunion the best of all time! Do you remember them in the hallways at Killian? Think back to Detention Hall, or when you were sitting across from them in the Principal's Office. Were you the one caught lighting M-80s in the bathroom and flushing them down the toilet? (We were busted for throwing food in the cafeteria.)

In the following pages, you can see our old selves, and who we have become after a half century of wear and tear. We hope you will join us for our 50-Year Reunion (but leave the M-80s at home). We want to see you. But you won't get a do-over this time. Don't let the moment pass you by!

Jeri (Eichenbaum) Beall

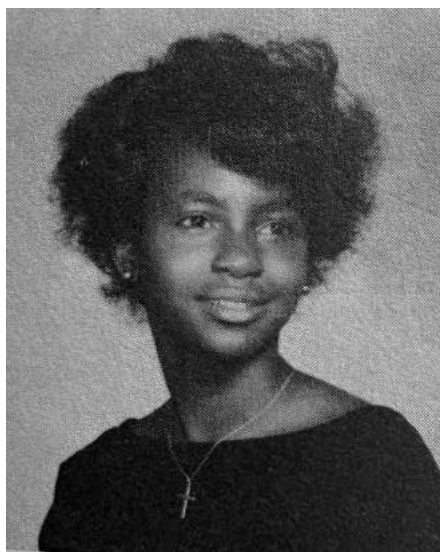

I worked for BellSouth for 26 years, moved to Atlanta in 1987, and never left. I married in 1989, divorced in 1997, and retired from BellSouth in 2002. After it closed, I worked for Lund International/ Real Truck until July 19, 2024.

Beth Gault

I spent over thirty years in marketing communications and education and had a lot of time at home with my lovely daughter. We want to move to our house in Loves Landing Aviation Airpark, FL. We have one daughter, Aubrey, and a son-in-law, Austin Skeens, along with 3 beautiful grandchildren.

Flo (Leidecker) Lanio

I've been married for 39 years and have 2 wonderful children. Just recently I became a grandmother for the first time; she is the love of my life! After living nearly my entire life in Miami, we moved to Rainbow Springs in Dunnellon, FL five years ago. It's nice and quiet, but I've spent 75% of my time in Miami taking care of my granddaughter for the past year.

Karen (Wilson) Lawrence

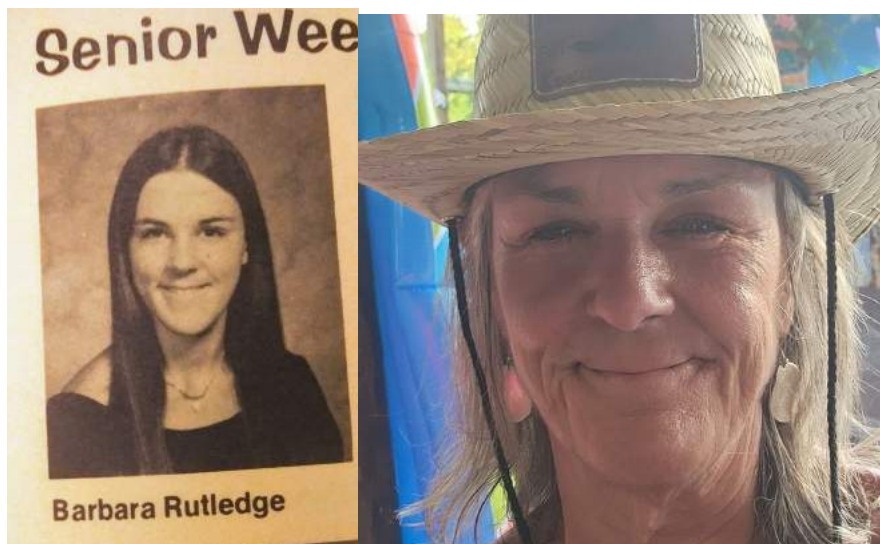

I am a business woman who is always on a mission to help others. I am a MaryKay Independent Beauty Consultant who lives by the Motto of MaryKay Ash: GOD first, Family second, and your Job third.

I retired in 2022 after 50 years in the legal field. We sold our house in Tampa, and now live in a fifth wheel in Perry, Florida on 8.5 beautiful acres. I am a "farmer" growing fruits and vegetables and enjoying daily fresh eggs from our flock of free-range chickens. I have been married for 22 years to a wonderful man with 7 grandchildren who stole my heart.

Kathy Miller

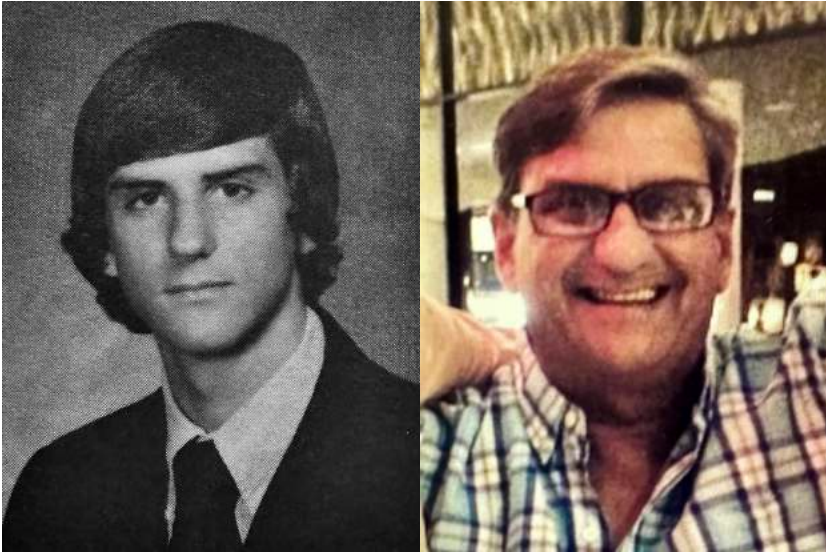

I worked for about 5 years as a word processing operator before my neurologist told me I was going on disability. In the Spring of 1987, I moved to Highlands County in Central Florida. I have always loved animals and have volunteered with several animal rescues. I enjoy making all types of arts and crafts. Throughout it all, my relationship with the Lord has grown stronger.

Bruce Oestrich

I retired from City of Miami Fire-Rescue after 32 years in 2012. Since then, I've done a little traveling with my wife and two daughters. I have also continued my lifelong passion for bike riding. The last few years, with other retired firefighters, we've started bike packing various rail trails around the county. I'm hoping to ride cross country in 2025!

Bruce Orr

I am a Sales Manager for FJ Propeller, as well as the Assistant Manager at West Marine Pinecrest and NASCAR. I have lived in Miami all of my life. I love boats and fishing!

Paula (Finkelstein) Rosenberg

I am a retired Elementary School Media Specialist who worked in Dade and Broward County schools for over 30 years. I recently got married again to my soulmate, Ron Jason, in July 2023. Between our 5 children we have 4 grandchildren and one on the way, due in August.

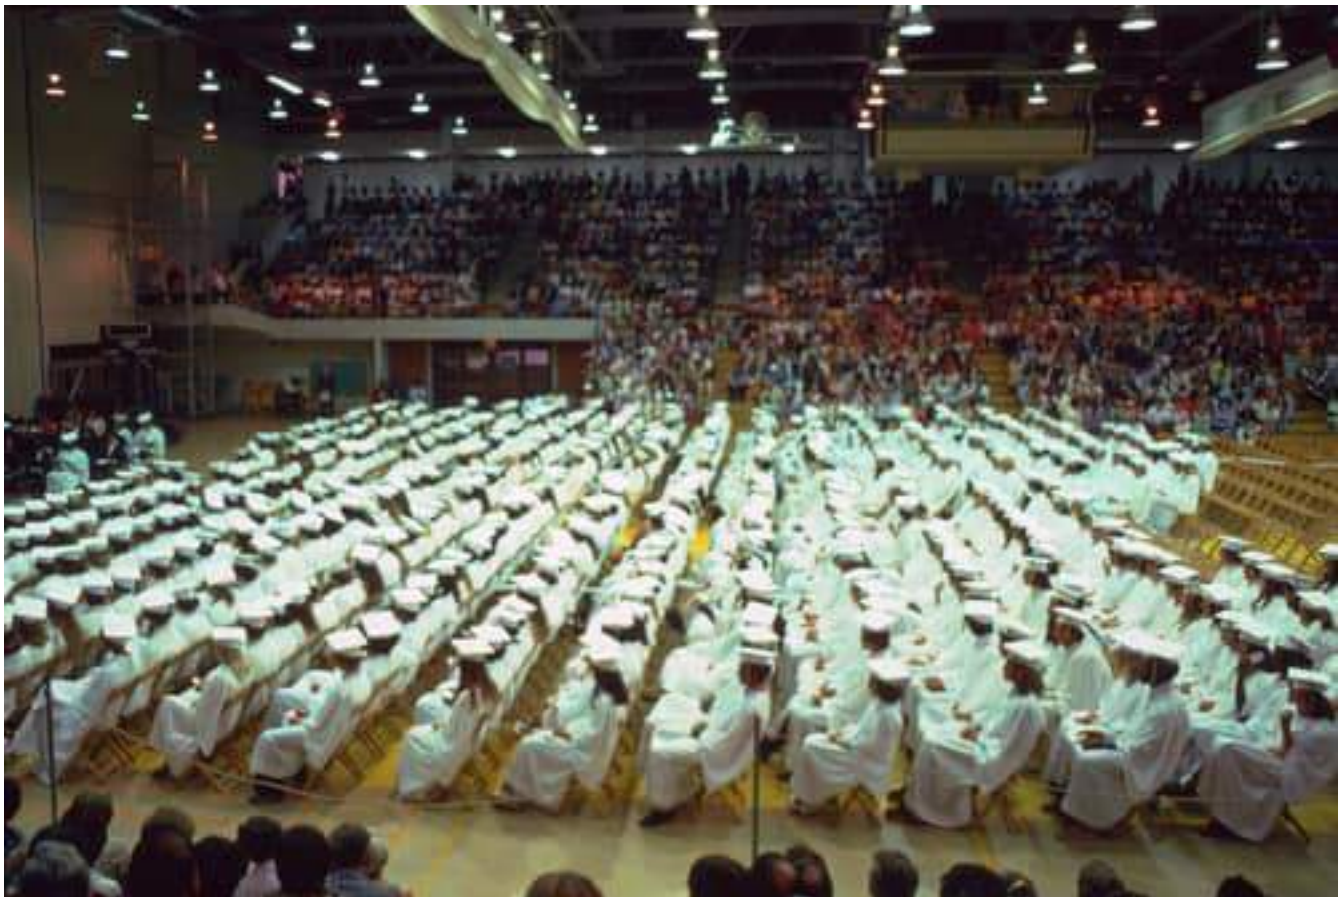

Doug Traub

I retired north of Tampa Bay in 2017 in order to boat in the Gulf, travel the world, write fiction and make first contact with an alien civilization from planet Killian. I have one amazing kid, Cate. I married my college sweetheart, Carol. I used to recruit visitors and conventions to Jekyll Island, GA; Huntington Beach, CA; and Lake Havasu City, AZ. When this gig as Chair is done, I will start on our 100-Year Reunion.

We graduated from Miami Killian Senior High School on June 13, 1975. Will your name and face be lost to the sands of time? Or will you come and renew your old friendships during our 50-Year Celebration on June 12-15, 2025? The time is fast approaching when you will have to make that decision and, unfortunately, it won't be cheap. We are doing everything we can to keep costs in line, including offering event tickets only. Expenses for a hotel room and all the activities, including a potential field trip back to our high school, will easily surpass $1,000, however. Start planning now!
