Relatively recent visits to Italy and France were eye opening. Today, I'm impressed if my bread rises properly, I craft a nice edge on a board, or my half marathon time shows improvement.

Biography / Memorable Life Experiences: I invented Post-It notes. Actually, most of the credit should go to Romy and Michele who invented a special glue. When you make glue, first you need to set the resin and then after it cools you have to mix in an epoxide, which is really just a fancy- schmancy name for any simple oxygenated adhesive, right? And then they thought maybe, just maybe, you could raise the viscosity by adding a complex glucose derivative emulsification process and it turns out they were right. And whamo.....The Post-It note was born......."Humor“ not "Reality".....Funny reunion themed movie though.
